

CONTRIBUTIONS TO CHEST DRIVE CLIMB TO $7,110

Contributions to Gettysburg Community Chest now total $7,110.75, Gordon J. Webster, finance drive chairman, announced this morning. The amount is 32 per cent of the $22,000 goal sought by Community Chest to support six local organizations during the coming year.

Webster said a number of the residential area canvassers reported to the Community Chest center Monday night, having completed solicitation of their areas. Additional canvassers are expected to tour the borough tonight in the attempt to contact every home for donations.

The Community Chest has set up its headquarters nightly during the current campaign, which opened Monday, in the Travel Council office in the former Western Maryland Railway depot on Carlisle St. As in prior years the Travel Council is offering use of its office as a convenient spot for the canvassers to turn in their reports.

Chairman Webster said the Red Feather thermometer on Lincoln Square was marked Tuesday night showing the donations had reached the 32 per cent figure and the increases will be noted each night following closing of the Community Chest office on the "thermometer" on the square.

Webster said canvassers this year are seeking to interest prospective donors in the use of pledge cards in order to permit larger donations than could be given immediately. Plans call for a team of men and women to go around about four times a year to collect pledges at the homes. The Chest is seeking "at least $5" from as many persons as possible, and is hoping people who would give $1 in cash, might also pledge $4 more to be collected later during the year.

He pointed out that at least $5 from each donor is needed to support the six member organizations. $5 donation gives a little less than $1 per organization per year. Community Chest supports the Recreation Association, YWCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Civic Nursing Association and the Library.

Dr. Frank Horsfall, associate professor of horticulture, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, one of the pioneers in research on using toxic ground sprays to control mice in orchards, will be the principal speaker Thursday evening at a meeting of the Upper Adams Young Farmers Association at the Biglerville Elementary School cafeteria at 8 o'clock. All fruit growers in the county, and all other interested persons, are invited to attend, officials of the Young Farmers group said.

Dr. Horsfall, who has appeared previously at Pennsylvania State Horticultural Society meetings, has recently returned from a speaking tour to the west coast where he addressed a number of professional groups there.

Research in use of ground spray materials against mice began in Virginia in 1949 and Endrin has proved a chemical with much promise for orchard mouse control. Dr. Horsfall has reported that during the past three years the chemical has eliminated mouse activity entirely from sizeable treated areas.

A highly poisonous material, Endrin must be used with safeguards. Dr. Horsfall has done research on the use of Endrin from the standpoint of safety, amounts required, time and methods of application, soil conditions which favor the use of Endrin, time required for mouse activity to decline, effect on wildlife and costs of application. He will use colored slides to illustrate details of his research in the Virginia orchards.

In response to a question, Eisenhower said that so far as U. S. security is concerned he has not one iota of apprehension regarding the Soviet Union's successful launching of a baby moon last Friday.

Eisenhower was asked whether he saw any possibility of weapons being fired from satellites as outer space launching platforms. He replied: Not at this time.

Nearly all Eisenhower's 30-minute session with newsmen was devoted to the satellite situation—both Russia's successful launching and the status of this country's project vanguard satellite program.

Reviews Background
Eisenhower came to the conference with a prepared statement of about 700 words which he did not read textually.

He took it up and sketched its highlights when asked "what are we going to do" about Russia's launching of a satellite and the Soviet's claim to have fired successfully an intercontinental ballistic missile.

In his statement, Eisenhower outlined the history of the U. S. satellite program, dating back to 1954. He said that from the outset there was general agreement the program would go ahead "without interfering with the top military ballistic missile program."

Missiles Top Priority
The missile program, Eisenhower said in response to a question, still has top priority in both intercontinental and intermediate range aspects. Intercontinental missiles are designed to travel 5,000 miles; those of intermediate range, 1,500 miles.

Eisenhower said that merging of the satellite scientific effort with military programs—an obvious

Numismatic Society Sees New Dollar Bills
Some of the first new $1 bills printed by the U. S. Treasury department bearing the words "In God We Trust," were displayed at the October meeting of the Gettysburg Numismatic Society Tuesday evening at the court house. These new notes are the first ever printed in sheets of 32. In addition to the display of the new $1 bills, there were exhibited two books of large size paper bills, all of them printed prior to 1928. Many of them are worth several times their face value, Edward L. Weikert, president of the society, said.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Frank Kramer, W. Broadway, who spoke on Chinese jade, the work of lapidaries and talked on Chinese coins.

Edward F. Reimard, Gettysburg R. 5, was named first vice president of the society which has 26 members. About 50 persons attended the meeting which ended with an auction of 40 lots of coins.

Building Permits
Burgess William G. Weaver has granted building permits to the following:

Dawson Miller for construction of a concrete 7 by 24 porch at 26-28 Mummansburg St. at a cost of $500.

Adams County Farm Bureau for construction of a steel roof 20 by 56 feet wide and 21 by 60 feet in length, with a concrete wall and supports at a cost of $2,000 at its office-warehouse on N. Washington St.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower will celebrate his 67th birthday anniversary on Monday. He is not expected to observe it at his farm here.

Ike Says U.S. Could Have Produced Satellite, But Chose Long Range Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States "could have produced an orbiting satellite before now." But to have done so, he added, would have worked to the detriment of military progress in the long-range missile field.

In a prepared statement at his news conference, Eisenhower announced that the United States plans to launch test satellites in December.

Eisenhower also said the first fully-instrumented U. S. satellite will be launched in March of next year.

Hospital Locates Ring In Laundry

Through the efforts of a physician, a hospital and a laundry the ring given by Mrs. James Milton Wetzel, Orrtanna, to her husband more than a half century ago has been returned.

Mr. Wetzel, who is 78, and who lost at leg about nine years ago, spent two weeks in the hospital, returning home Monday. After his arrival home he noticed that the ring given him by his wife before their marriage 51 years ago was missing.

Dr. James Hammett, Wetzel's physician, called the hospital when Mr. Wetzel recalled that he had at one time removed the ring from his finger and placed it in the hem of a sheet for momentary safekeeping. The hospital checked swiftly, and then called a Littlestown laundry to which a number of sheets had been sent for cleaning. The laundry checked hems, and in a short time was able to return the ring undamaged.

COMMISSIONERS HANDLE MANY MATTERS TODAY

Adams County's commissioners this afternoon were looking over the Midway Fire Co. engine house as a new site for the Conego Twp. voting place.

For years the Sand Hill school has been used as the election house. The commissioners said today they had been asked by the Conego Twp. school board to secure another site if possible because the school must close to provide for elections. Previously half the pupils attended in the morning, half in the afternoon to permit use of rooms by the election board.

The commissioners said the Midway fire house has now become available and "will provide a more central location population wise."

The commissioners also planned this afternoon to visit a property for which the assessment had been appealed. It was the last in the series of such properties to be seen. Plans also called for the commissioners to inspect several bridges in the eastern part of the county this afternoon as part of the annual tour of inspection for bridges.

This morning the commissioners hired Mrs. Gordon Moyer, 536 Baltimore St., as practical nurse for the county home. She will begin her duties October 15. The commissioners decided to secure a practical nurse for the county home when a report of the citizens' committee studying needs of the home reported such a nurse is necessary.

Dick, Chambersburg St., conducted instruction on the automatic rifle for the rifle platoon, assisted by Pfc. Glenn C. Lemaster, Orrtanna R. 1. Sfc. Leroy J. FIREMEN WILL PRESENT 2ND EVENT TONIGHT FOR "FP" WEEK

Gettysburg firemen tonight will present the second in their series of special Fire Prevention Week programs from 7 to 9 o'clock on Lincoln Square.

More than 400 turned out Tuesday night for the opening program of the series. Tonight Letterkenny Fire Department will put on a special demonstration of fire fighting skills. There will also be a display of Gettysburg Fire Department equipment and movies of fire prevention activities. The regular meeting of the Gettysburg firemen will be held tonight at the engine house following the program on the square.

Tuesday night, Burgess William G. Weaver, chief emeritus and past president of the fire department, gave a brief history of the department which was established in 1808. "The equipment you see before you, parked about the square, is a marvel compared to the equipment of the early days of the company. The original local firemen used leather buckets, axes and a hand-pumped engine."

Cites Expansion of Services
"Despite their lack of equipment, they performed yeoman service in combating fire in our town. In the 1880s the hand pumps were replaced by the General Meade, our ancient Sissy steam fire engine, which was a tremendous advance in providing water for fires."

"With the coming of the automobile, the town switched to motorized equipment and there has been a steady progression of fire engines, each much improved over the other until we come to the 'General Ike,' the brand new 750-gallon-per-minute pump brought through the generosity of you, the people of Gettysburg, in your support of the fire department activities."

"The firemen thank you, the community, for your support throughout the years. And in return the firemen pledge themselves to give our community ever better service, not only in fire protection but in ambulance and rescue work, and the other chores that have become part of the firemen's province."

"Our ladder truck, a piece of apparatus that could not be replaced for $30,000, is an example of what I mean by additional service."

80 Ambulance Calls
"The ladder truck is useful to the community for its potential service in case of fire. It can raise its ladder 75 feet, higher than any building in Gettysburg. With the hose and nozzle attached to the ladder, water can be hurled onto any roof, or high room. With the ladder, rescue work can be carried on as you will see later tonight. With the ladder truck Gettysburg can help other communities. Our aerial ladder truck was the hero, as it were, of the J. C. Penney fire at Hanover. It was the only vehicle that could get water where it was needed."

"But fire fighting is not its only use. It has been used I think in (Continued on Page 9)

"ONE SOLUTION" SEEN BY FAUBUS IN LITTLE ROCK

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said today he sees no solution in the Little Rock integration crisis save the complete withdrawal of the nine Negro students attending Central High School.

Faubus was asked at a news conference to explain the "cooling off" period he has said is needed in the integration deadlock.

He replied: "We need a chance for tension to be allowed, time for litigation and time for the people to accept peacefully what is being crammed down their throats at bayonet point."

"It's Possible" He was asked if this meant the withdrawal of six Negro girls and three boys who have been attending integrated classes at Central High under protection of federal troops ordered here by President Eisenhower.

"It's possible," the governor replied. Pressed on this point as to whether any solution could be reached while the Negroes are in Central High, Faubus said:

"I don't think it is possible at this time with the Negroes in the school."

"Not Arbitrary" Faubus said it is within the power of a number of people including the courts and the Little Rock School Board to initiate some break in the deadlock but that he has no suggestions currently under consideration.

Faubus said he was not "closing the door to the possibility of a compromise because I don't want to appear adamant or arbitrary."

But again he said he had no such move currently under consideration.

At the school, the scene remained quiet. Half a dozen soldiers escorted the nine Negro pupils into the building without incident.

Ike Says

Sen. Butler (R-Md.) that the Navy actually could launch a satellite at any time, Eisenhower said Butler must have more information on that than he does.

Eisenhower also dealt with these other matters.

ZHUKOV—Eisenhower said that if a Russian suggestion that Marshal Georgi Zhukov visit the United States was rebuffed, then he knows it was unintentional. Eisenhower added that he had no information regarding any rebuff.

The President's remark was in reply to a question about a reported statement by Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party boss, that a proposal that Zhukov come to the United States was rejected by this country.

Eisenhower recalled that at a July 17 news conference he had told a questioner it might be useful for Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister, to meet with Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Might Disturb Allies Eisenhower said he later discussed the matter with Secretary of State Dulles who told him the United States should beware of any bilateral two-nation talks which might disturb its Allies.

At that time, the President went on, talks were going on in Britain among the Allies. He did not specify the nature of those talks.

Eisenhower indicated that Dulles was sounded out regarding the possibility of a Zhukov visit by the Soviet ambassador. He said the ambassador was told that at his July 17 news conference the President had given a hypothetical answer to a hypothetical question.

LITTLE ROCK — Eisenhower said he certainly is very hopeful that the time may be drawing near when federal troops enforcing school integration at Little Rock can be withdrawn. But he offered no specific information or elaboration regarding this hope.

Eisenhower was asked whether in his opinion Little Rock's Central High School could have been integrated peacefully if Gov. Orval Faubus had not stationed the Arkansas National Guard at the school. The guard was used to prevent Negroes from attending classes.

Eisenhower replied that an answer would call for speculation on his part. But he said he did know that integration had been achieved peacefully in other parts of Arkansas, and said he saw no reason why it could not have been achieved in the same way in Little Rock.

SPACE CONTROL—Eisenhower said he agrees entirely with Dulles that the United States will enter into no bilateral talks or agreement with Russia dealing with international control of outer space.

The United States is in favor of a study of that matter, Eisenhower added, but on a many-nation and not a bilateral basis.

Eisenhower was saying in effect that any such talks must be conducted within the framework of the United Nations.

EUB Conference Raises Budget

The conference, meeting in its 169th annual session, increased its next budget for missions and benevolences to $119,930.

Dr. Zuse said all churches in the conference paid last year's allotment in full and two churches—Biglerville and Scotland—went five per cent beyond their quotas.

Benny Wins $64
On $64,000 Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny climbed just one rung on The $64,000 Question financial ladder last night and decided it was a dizzying height. He quit—and left the show just $64 richer. Benny, whose closeness with a dollar is one of his theatrical trademarks, insisted on stopping with $64 even though quizmaster Hal March told him such a thing had never been done before. Traveling expenses alone for Benny to come from California had cost $300, March said.

But the dry-witted comedian insisted. And since the show was not prepared with a check, March and other members of the cast dug up $64 from their own wallets. Benny won the money on the one and only question in his category, the violin. He gave the first name of the violin maker Stradivari (Antonio) and his birthplace (Cremona, Italy).

Britain Is Opposed
To New Red Pact

LONDON (AP)—Britain today declared its opposition to any negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union on a pact for the international control of satellites and space missiles.

A Foreign Office spokesman defined the British position. He told reporters Britain would not want to separate the control of outer space missiles from the framework of a wider first stage disarmament treaty. He said the British government, however, does favor the early establishment of an international working party that would begin studying the type of controls needed for any ultimate system of missile control.

Adams County Boys Share
In Community Chest Drive

One of the agencies participating in the Community Chest drive is the Boy Scouts.

What Boy Scouting means to boys and to the community is illustrated in the following article on Scouting.

Gettysburg is the center of activity for the Black Walnut District, York-Adams Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. During last year's Community Chest Drive there were 270 Cub Scouts, 276 Boy Scouts, and 80 Explorers, or a total of 626 boys. Today there are 317 Cub Scouts, 285 Boy Scouts, and 103 Explorers or a total of 705. In addition there are 292 registered Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, Explorer advisors, assistants, den mothers, institutional representatives, commissioners, and committee members serving and being served Two new Cub packs and one new Explorer post have been added and two are proposed before the end of this year. The district totals are now

8 packs, 12 troops, and 7 posts with 9 units in Gettysburg serving 246 boys, an increase of 123 per cent over last year.

Share In Drive

Each year with district derives approximately 35 per cent of its funds from the Gettysburg Community Chest. Without a successful Chest campaign there could be no Scouting in Gettysburg. By the end of this year it is expected that the membership will total over 750, and by the end of 1958, 900.

Scouting is nonsectarian. Every race and creed participates in the Scouting program. Some of the boys come from wealthy families and some come from the poor. Some would become delinquents if it were not for Scouting.

Scouting means many things to many boys — to some it means a road to God's glorious world of nature, hiking, and camping in the outdoors — to some it means companionship in a variety of forms. And in these companion-

ships they develop leadership qualities, and they learn that it's just as important, in a group, to support as it is to lead. To other boys, Scouting means developing and finally excelling in the things they like to do, for in Scouting every boy is given the opportunity to achieve the goal he sets for himself. Mental growth is something that every person must accomplish for himself. Scouting means true friendship — friendship with men and women who are interested in their neighbors, and friendship with boys who are interested in the things that interest normal people. All these advantages are for the boy, and it is natural to wonder and to ask what benefits does the community derive from this business of Scouting?

Purpose Of Scouting

The primary purpose of Scouting is to develop leaders and good citizens — citizens who have developed their minds, their bodies, and their characters. Scouts learn the fundamentals of good citizenship through practice. Religious tolerance is learned through association in Cub packs, Scout troops, and Explorer posts with boys of all religions. Scouts have learned to respect others' beliefs and especially the right of others to have these beliefs.

Scouting helps everyone to understand the personal relationship they must maintain with their community and country. It teaches everyone to become an active member of their community.

A "Good Turn" is included in the Scouting program, because in this way boys learn the meaning of obligation. This is one way Scouts repay a community for what it does for them. Being a good American is a lifetime job, but essentially it is little more than being a good member of the community, being alert to the problems and needs of that community, helping those who need help, a loyalty to principle, readiness to give of their talents to the common good, doing each day's job a little better than the day before, and an acceptance of these things as a part of daily life. When boys believe in and give the Scout Oath and Law, they strive to be better Americans, they strive to be worthy of the heritage that is theirs, and they are eager to pass it on, enriched by all who have helped them.

When these Scouts move into an adult world, they bring an asset that cannot be calculated. They believe in the reality of duty and have a working sense of duty — duty to God, to Country, to others, and duty to self. They have a faith in themselves, a faith in others, a faith in their country, and a faith in God. The faiths they hold are the chief strength of democracy.

All these things are dividends — reward for cooperation. This is what a Scout gives back to his community.

Four School Tilts

Postponed Tuesday

Rain and wet playing fields resulted in postponement of four scholastic athletic events on Tuesday.

The Bermudian Joint Junior High football game with Big Spring at Newville was postponed until this afternoon. The Frederick Junior High game with the Delone Freshmen was postponed until October 28.

Two York-Adams Scholastic Soccer League games were put off until today — Bermudian Joint at Dover, and Spring Grove at Manchester.

Certificates Given
Three GHS Players

During the assembly today at Gettysburg High School football certificates for outstanding work in two previous games were presented three Warrior players by Magnus Flawa, president of the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

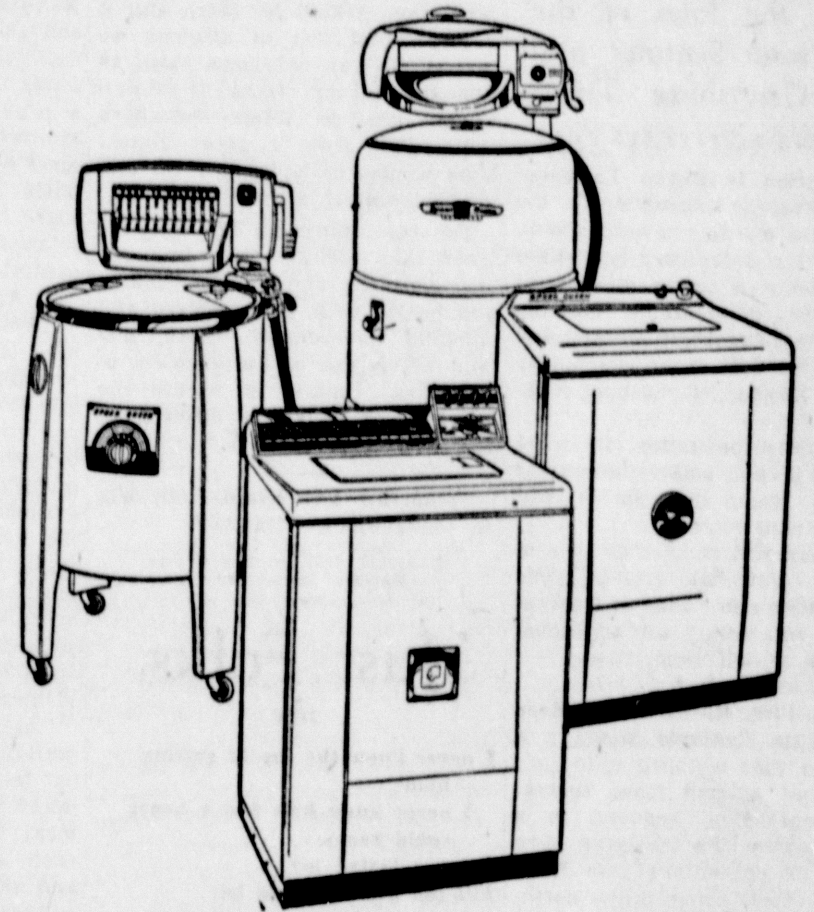

Earl Little, quarterback, received two certificates — one each for the Shippensburg and Chambersburg games. Roy Goldsmith, guard, was presented one for his work in the Shippensburg game and Bob Nelson, another guard, for the Chambersburg contest.

Each week the Jaycees award a certificate to a lineman and back who are outstanding in the game played that week.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Public School Building Authority yesterday received these unofficial bids for construction of an elementary school at Port Royal, Juniata County:

a fire that started from spontaneous combustion reduced to a heap of ashes ruin the large barn and all its contents at the Park Gardner farm, three miles north-feet, with all its contents, was still smouldering at noon Monday although firemen from two county fire companies bravely battled the flames for seven hours Sunday evening. Their efforts were not entirely unrewarded. They succeeded in preventing the roaring flames from spreading to neighboring buildings and only a corn crib was partially damaged.The damage was estimated today by Mr. Gardner as $14,000, partially covered by insurance.

Today's Talk

THOSE LITTLE EXTRAS

Scattered all through our daily lives are little surprises, discoveries, and unexpected thrills. These give spice and interest to all that we experience. How happy we are to get news we were not looking for, and to learn something we never knew before! Little extras dropped into life to keep it warm and full of cheer and hope.Those little words — "Please,"
"Thank you," "I'm sorry" — are forever fitting in and giving zest to whatever we may be doing.
That kindly letter to a friend, that encouragement given at the right time, usually to that one who never expected it, are the golden rays of sunshine without which there would be too many dark days of life!Those little extras cluster, and then they break up and swarm in people's hearts. How worth while they are! And each costing only our urge and desire to be helpful to others. Life can be made continually beautiful. By searching for the good in life and people, we come across so many extras we never dreamed about meeting!Our daily blessing are filled with hidden extras all ready for our appreciation. Watch for them and it will astound you to discover so many! We can catalogue them as "pennies from Heaven!" Small things are so often fresh-born things that grow to great things.
How wonderful it is that we can grasp them—if we will to do so.The best things in life may be those that silently creep into our consciousness and fill our minds and hearts with new resolves and spiritual nourishment. Love, distributed, is one of the greatest of all extras, and it is within the province of us all to discover it and spread it lavishly.Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Names"Projected, 1957, by The George

JOY

I never knew the joy of getting home,I never knew how fast a heart could beat;I never tasted joy Till the day my little boyCame running up to meet me on the street.I never knew the pleasure of a smile,I never knew the music of a voiceTill I heard my baby greet me,
On the day he ran to meet meIn a way that made my weary heart rejoice.I never knew a welcome half so trueTill I heard his "Hello, daddy!"
down the street.And though weary as could be,
When he scampered up to meThere was comfort in the pat of his feet.I never knew the charm of laughing eyes,I never knew how happy I could be,I never knew the cheer
That makes worry disappearTill the day my baby first ran up to me.

CLOSED PLANTS

READING, Pa. (AP)—The federal government plans to reopen and operate two dress plants shut down last week because of non-payment of withholding taxes totaling $43,061.Julien Hansen, in charge of Internal Revenue Service operations in Berks and Schuylkill counties, announced yesterday the plants
would be reopened Monday.Both plants, located in Tower City and Donaldson, are owned by Percival Bernstein of Huntingdon, Long Island, N.Y. They will operate under the supervision of Raymond Coyne, of Pottsville, appointed trustee by Hansen.Hansen said that Bernstein agreed to federal operation of the plant, after conferences with federal and state officials, until the money due the Internal Revenue Service in withholding taxes has been paid.The government says the taxes were withheld from the salaries of some 360 employees and put back into the business.

In Finding Career In Agriculture

(Second Of A Series)

Many young men and women who live on a farm or in the country fail to make use of their farm and rural experience, bulletins from Penn State University point out.Few realize that of the 25 million Americans who work in agriculture only 10 million actually work on farms and ranches. The other 15 million work in such major fields of agriculture as: research, industry, business, communications, education, conservation and other agricultural services.About 500 different careers are awaiting those wishing to become trained in agriculture. Penn State specialists say. Perhaps no other field offers such a wide variety of interests to the young man or woman who has a background in rural America. Yet the demand for trained agricultural workers is twice as large as the supply.
Excerpts from bulletins point out:"Men who actually manage land usually call themselves farmers.
However, the farmer who uses soil and plant sciences to produce field crops or to manage grasslands, also is an agronomist—
a practical operating agronomist.
Similarly, men who use their knowledge of soils, crops, and grasslands in agricultural businesses and industries, in agricultural science or teaching, and in governmental work, are agronomists.Agronomists In Demand
"Well-trained agronomists make use of such plant sciences as breeding and disease control, of soil sciences including soil fertility and conservation, and of other biological sciences including entomology and bacteriology. Also, the agronomist should be informed in the animal sciences, and understand the principles of chemistry, physics, and mathematics. Moreover, he needs to have an understanding of economics and of social sciences that deal with relations of men to other men."Agronomists are in great demand. Some are needed for practical farming and management, but many more find careers in agricultural businesses and industries such as fertilizer manufacturing and sales, agricultural lime, agricultural chemicals, farm coopera-tives, the seed industry, and feed and grain companies. Still other select state and federal service in soil conservation, or agricultural extension; or they go into research and college teaching. An increasing number find careers in turf management such as golf course superintendents, and managers of park systems and athletic fields.Demand For Trained Personnel Graduates of animal husbandry are prepared for work as a livestock farmer, farm manager, marketing specialist, or livestock breeder. In addition, sales and technical jobs are open in the meat industry. Job opportunities have been unusually good in recent years where many graduates have been offered as many as five or six.A great demand for trained personnel in this field has come from industries seeking supervisors and assistants in meat industries.
These jobs include buyers or supervisors of cutting, processing, and packing of meats and meat products. Another new and expanding area is in the feed business where salesmen must have a basic knowledge of breeding, disease control, and management, as well as of animal nutrition.For those with an intense curiosity about the world of living things, like laboratory work, and who enjoy doing things with their hands, bacteriology and medical technology are a promising field.

Many Fields Open

Bacteriologists use slides, test tubes, microscopes and filters.
They grow cultures of bacteria in test tubes. They identify and classify these tiny organisms, and study their habits. They learn what foods bacteria use, at what temperatures they live, and how they affect other living things.Hospitals need so many technicians that the medical profession has authorized a special category of laboratory worker, the medical technologist, who is certified for this type of work. Most medical technologists are women, but men are also eligible. They require much the same background as bacteriologists or other biological science majors, including anatomy and physiology and special training in clinical procedures in approved hospitals.Large numbers of bacteriologists are employed in public health work. Water supply and sewage disposal units require the services of competent microbiologists.An Inviting Challenge Agriculture and related industries provide more openings for microbiologists every year.
Interest is rising at agricultural experiment stations in the activities of soil organism nitrogen fixation, and the decomposition of humus. Increasing use of herbicides and highly concentrated fertilizers has uncovered new problems for soil microbiologists.One of the most sensational developments in biological science has been in antibiotics, such as penicillin, streptomycin, and aureomycin. Highly trained research experts now are looking for new antibiotics and are studying their usefulness to plants, animals, and man.Put $25,000 Bail priests in their rectory at Mount Carmel, Pa.U.S. Commissioner Henry P.

ing 19 years of a 30-year robbery term, was arrested Monday night in a center city telephone office.
He had been sought also, state police said, for passing bad checks

RAGE IN WARSAW
FOR 5TH NIGHTWARSAW (AP)—For the fifth straight night street fighting broke out in this Communist capital, but the antigovernment demonstrators had dwindled from a mass student protest to a small crowd sparked by rowdies.About 100 riot police charged Monday night's jeering crowd of affire. Forty persons were reported 1,000 with clubs after a teen-age gang set a wooden flower kiosk arrested in the clash outside the Warsaw Palace of Culture.The disorders began Thursday night, when police broke up a demonstration against closure of the student newspaper Po Prostu for criticizing the Communist government. After another clash Friday night, organized students took no further part and rowdies moved in.Communist authorities kept up a press campaign demanding severe penalties for demonstrators.
Total arrests and casualties have not been announced.A resolution by the University Youth Union called for quiet. It said: "We condemn the riots but at the same time consider that they were the logical consequence of militia interference, inconsiste-ent action of students and lack of proper organization."SEEK SUMMER CAMPS FOR BOYS
AT STATE BASESHARRISBURG (AP)—A five-member committee today began studying a plan to convert inactive federal installations in Pennsylvania into summer camps for boys.Gov. Leader named the committee yesterday headed by Adm.
Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr.
"I want to emphasize that these camps will not be for delinquents," Leader said.Other members of the committee are: Robert C. Taber, chairman of the governor's committee on children and youth; Dr. Charles H.
Boehm, superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Paul Glatzer, director of bureau of field supervisory services, department of public instruction; and Norman V.
Lourie, executive deputy secretary, department of welfare.Biddle said the units would house underprivileged children after the state aiding in establishment of camps at former CCC locations or through encouraging expansion of existing summer camps.Local leadership would be utilized for operation of the encampments, in a multi-agency arrangement patterned after the annual Boy Scout jamboree, Biddle said.Originally, the camp program sought to use inactive military establishments, but this has been virtually ruled out because of the absence of such facilities.full employment and price stabili-

NEW YORK (AP)—The finance minister of Ghana, who had Vice President Richard M. Nixon in for lunch at his home in Africa last March, says he was not allowed to eat in a restaurant in Dover, Del., because of his color.K. A. Gbedemah, a highly educated man who speaks flawless English, reported the incident yesterday on his return to New York.

It was confirmed in Dover by Howard Cook, who operates the restaurant under a Howard Johnson franchise."If the vice president of the United States can have a meal at my house when he is in Ghana, and if Adlai Stevenson can come into my home, then I cannot understand why I must receive this treatment at a roadside restaurant in America," Gbede-mah said.Nixon dined at Gbedemah's home in Accra March 4 while visiting Ghana for his independence celebration. Gbedemah attended a cocktail party last month in Nixon's Washington home.He has been in the United States since Sept. 20 for meetings of the World Bank in Washington.
An official protest to the State Department is being planned, Gbedemah said.Ghana, because of its new independence, yields much influence among African and Asian nations. Gbedemah is considered the most powerful man in Ghana
next to Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah.Gbedemah said the incident occurred at 6:30 p. m. Monday while he was driving to Maryland State College in Princess Anne, Md., to attend a meeting in his honor.The chain usually does not operate a restaurant but allows its name to be used in return for the sale of its ice cream and other foods.In confirming the incident in general, Cook said he regretted that it occurred and that it happened as a result of "an unwritten community custom."He said he was not at the restaurant at the time and did not know which employee acted for him.

Braves Strong Favorites To Win The Deciding Game At Yankee Stadium; Injuries Hurt Teams

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Haney's battling Milwaukee Braves ruled the 2-1 favorite today to win the World Series as they faced the New York Yankees in the sixth game needing only one more victory to clinch it.

Another capacity crowd of 67,000 was expected at Yankee Stadium to see a return match between Bob Buhl of the Braves and Bob Turley of the Yankees.

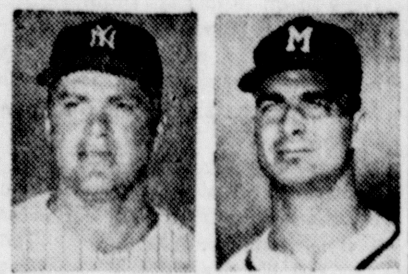

The Yankees were handicapped by the absence of Mickey Mantle, who has a torn tendon in his right shoulder. Milwaukee has Red Schoendienst on the sidelines. He has a pulled groin muscle.

Spahn Has Grippe
The Braves, leading three games to two, were more eager than ever to wrap it up today because of the uncertain physical condition of Warren Spahn, their ace pitcher. Spahn, considered a certainty to pitch the seventh game, if it were needed, has a slight case of grippe.

If the Yankees win today and there is no improvement in Spahn's condition, the chances are that Lew Burdette will get the assignment.

The Yankees also had a pitcher hors de combat in Johnny Kucks. The young right-hander spent yesterday in a hospital, wrestling with a case of the flu—not the Asian kind—and he is not expected to see action either today or tomorrow.

Bob Turley Bob Buhl

Schowron Can Bat
The Yankees' other invalid, Bill (Moose) Schowron, felt a little better last night although his sacroiliac muscle is still very painful. He said he can pinch-hit but cannot possibly play in the field. Mantle, alarmed when he woke up yesterday morning and found he could hardly raise his right arm, was whisked to a hospital. X-rays showed there were no breaks or bone damage in his right shoulder but that he suffered a torn cartilage in his collision with Schoendienst in the third game.

"I don't think it will be okay for the series, no matter how long it goes," he said. "Those things take a long time to heal."

Schoendienst also said: "I don't think I can play any more in the series."

Casey Looks For Punch
With Mantle and Schowron out and Yogi Berra without an extra-base hit or a run-batted-in during the entire series, Yankee Manager Casey Stengel sought desperately to inject some more punch into his lineup. He finally settled for one new face, thus presenting six different batting orders in the six games.

Casey benched Harry Simpson with another left-handed hitter, Joe Collins, at first base. Simpson has had only one hit in nine times at bat.

The rest of the lineup was the same that lost the 1-0 heartbreaker to Burdette Monday in Milwaukee. Tony Kubek was Mantle's replacement in center. Enos Slaughter was in left and rookie Jerry Lumpe was at third base. Jerry Coleman was back at second base.

Managers Cheerful
Both managers appeared cheerful last night despite the injuries that have hobbled their teams. Stengel already has earmarked Don Larsen as his seventh game pitcher.

"And we'll be in it," he said. "I don't expect it to go seven games," the Milwaukee skipper said. "Even with Schoendienst out we're in pretty good shape."

This was Haney's way of expressing confidence in Felix Mantilla, who replaced Schoendienst at second early in Monday's game and gave a fine account of himself in the field.

Probable Lineups
"Mantilla will lead off," Haney said, and added he would use his left-hand lineup with Frank Torre replacing Joe Adcock at first and Bob Hazle supplanting Andy Pafko in right.

GARDEN STATE OPENING TODAY

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Garden State Park today opens its fall meeting, to be featured by the running Oct. 26 of the world's richest race, the Garden State Stakes.

Purses for the 25-day meeting will total about $1,222,875, including nine stakes with an added money value of $385,000.

In addition to the Garden State, other highlights of the meet are the Gardenia, Oct. 19, for two-year-old fillies, and the Trenton Handicap, Nov. 9, for three-year-olds and handicap stars.

The feature of today's opening at the track just outside Camden in Delaware Township, is the $7,500 Fall Inaugural. Gama, top weighted at 122 pounds, is favored over eight other three-year-olds in the running of this mile and a 16th event. Air Pilot, with Willie Shoemaker making up most of its 114-pound burden, is the most likely threat. Gama will be ridden by George Hettiger.

Both the nation's winningest jockeys this year, defending champion Willie Hartack, and runnerup Shoemaker will be riding often during the meet.

MECHANICSBURG HAS BIG EDGE IN GHS SERIES

Scoring on a Mechanicsburg High School football team has always been a major problem for Gettysburg but Ben Jones and his Warriors are determined not only to score but to surprise when the Wildcats appear here Friday evening for a South Penn Conference game.

In the last nine seasons the Warriors have been able to score but 13 points against the Wildcats and all of those came in 1951 when Gettysburg, recording its only undefeated season in history, was a 13-0 winner. The Warriors were blanked in losing the other eight games during that span. Last year the score was 21-0.

Mechanicsburg holds the biggest margin of any of the regular opponents of Gettysburg throughout their series. Since the opening of the series in 1919, the Wildcats have won 20 as against six by Gettysburg, and four contests wound up in ties. The Cats blanked Gettysburg in 14 of the games while the Warriors turned the trick seven times.

Upset By Hawks
Prior to the start of the current campaign Mechanicsburg had been picked as the most likely team to replace Carlisle, defending conference champion. That picture changed somewhat two weeks ago when Hanover's surprising Night Hawks, league leaders, nipped the Wildcats in a stunning upset 6-0.

Mechanicsburg has played but two games. In addition to the Hanover game, the Cats downed Central Dauphin 9-0. Last week the team had an open date while the game scheduled with Calvin Coolidge of Washington, D.C., on September 20 was cancelled due to illness among squad members.

Coach Johnny Frederick, who annually comes up with a contender in the South Penn Conference, is blessed with a letterman at every position. He lost but six lettermen from last year's squad by graduation.

The Wildcats have a rugged line and a hard-hitting backfield with fair speed. If they are to remain in title contention they cannot afford a loss or tie which means the Warriors will meet a tough foe.

17 COLLEGES IN STATE UNBEATEN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—St. Vincent College, with four straight victories, tops a field of 17 unbeaten and untied Pennsylvania collegiate football teams, the first Associated Press tabulation of the 1957 season disclosed today.

St. Vincent has rolled over Indiana, Thiel, Clarion and Scranton, scoring 121 points while allowing the combined opposition only 26.

West Chester State Teachers College, favored to win the Pennsylvania Teachers College Conference, ranked second among the 51 state colleges active in football, with three wins. West Chester has eased past Ft. Myer, Kings College and New Haven (Conn.) Teachers, rolling up 124 points while permitting only 26.

Westminster College, last year's only unbeaten, untied team in Pennsylvania, continued its winning habit early games, shutting out Thiel 12-0, and edging Waynesburg 13-7 last Saturday. The Titans now have won 23 games in a row, longest current win streak in the state.

PCL Sees End Of Loop In West

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times reported today that Leslie O'Connor, president of the Pacific Coast League, said that the Brooklyn Dodgers franchise shift to Los Angeles means "the end of the PCL."

O'Connor, at his home in nearby Crystal Lake, said he would contact Pacific Coast League club owners and call a meeting, probably later this month, to discuss the arrival of the Dodgers at Los Angeles and the New York Giants at San Francisco.

The Sun-Times said O'Connor said he cannot see how the PCL can continue because "we lose three clubs—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Hollywood—and San Diego is in the Los Angeles orbit and Sacramento is only 90 miles from San Francisco."

Series Facts

NEW YORK (AP)—By his own admission, Felix Mantilla didn't expect to get into the World Series.

But here he is the Milwaukee second baseman, courtesy of Red Schoendienst' bad leg, as the Braves met the New York Yankees in the sixth game of the Series today.

"I never figured when I got up Monday that I'd be playing that day," the little utility infielder said. "I was a little uneasy, but then they hit a couple at me right away and I forgot about it."

Braves' shortstop Johnny Logan, who plays alongside Schoendienst, was both sad and happy.

"I don't see how Red can play, he was hurting so badly," said Logan. "But I still think our fielding and hitting will be all right even without Red."

While he refused to take Jerry Coleman, the self-admitted goat of Monday's loss, out of the lineup, Yankees' Manager Casey Stengel revealed that he had been toying with the idea of starting Bobby Richardson at second base in that contest.

"But I didn't," he sighed. "If I had been able to get ahead of them, I would have put the kid in because he covers more ground defensively than Coleman."

Stengel, by the way, is all praise for Milwaukee pitchers Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn.

"The Braves' pitching is better than any I saw in past Series with the Dodgers," raved the Professor. "That open date helps, but they are good. Burdette knows how to pitch to left-handers and Spahn knows how to pitch to right-handers."

If the Series goes seven games, and Spahn can't pitch, Lew Burdette probably will try to make it three victories over the Yankees. Don Larsen is the Yank nomination.

Deputy Warden Carl Conway identified the escaped prisoner as John W. Hess, 22, of Roscoe, serving a three to six year term for robbery with accomplice and larceny.

Conway said Hess left the prison grounds yesterday while on duty loading prison nursery trees for shipment from the penitentiary.

SELECT ARMY TO BEAT IRISH; OTHER CHOICES

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Flu germs, moving franchises, man-made satellites, home runs, blocked punts . . . it is enough to send a football prognosticator inside his crystal ball for protection.

Last week's efforts resulted in 36 correct choices and nine disappointments. That's an 800 average. The season figures are 96 correct, 27 wrong for .781.

This week's picks:

Oklahoma over Texas: Bud Wilkinson has the reserves to bring about Oklahoma's 43rd Michigan State Again

Michigan State over Michigan: Should be even closer than last year's 9-0 Spartan victory.

Minnesota over Northwestern: Bobbycox and Co. have the physical edge.

Duke over Rice: The Dukes have a great two-man backfield in halfback Wray Carlton and fullback Hal McElhaney. However, a tie wouldn't surprise.

Auburn over Kentucky: Auburn gaining stature as possibly the best in the Southeastern Conference.

Picks Army Over Irish

Army over Notre Dame: This venerable series is being revived. Army's 34-man squad is healthy. Notre Dame has several in casualties.

Baylor over Arkansas: How tough can these get? Baylor by a point.

Navy over California: Ned Oldham to get in gear again for the Middles.

Princeton over Penn: Johnny Sapoch, Tiger quarterback, as good a back as there is in the East.

Skippping over the others: FRIDAY NIGHT

George Washington over Air Force Academy, Miami over North Carolina, Southern Methodist over Missouri, Tulane over Georgia, The Citadel over Wofford.

SATURDAY

EAST: Boston College over Dayton, West Virginia over Boston University, Colgate over Rutgers, Syracuse over Cornell, Dartmouth over Brown, Harvard over Ohio University, Penn State over William & Mary, Pittsburgh over Nebraska, Yale over Columbia.

STRONG BARONS TO OPEN TONIGHT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If American Hockey League opponents thought the Cleveland Barons were tough last year when they won the Calder Cup, the Barons must be more feared than ever now.

In opening their 1957 campaign tonight at home with the Hershey Bears, the Barons will present all of last year's offensive and defensive stars plus the league's top goalie, Johnny Bower. The 31-year-old Bower was acquired in an off-season trade with the Providence Reds.

Providence picked up younger players and the almost equally adept Marcel Paille in the trade. The Reds visit the Springfield Indians tonight.

Springfield, along with the Buffalo Bisons, failed to make the playoffs last year and is expected to be vastly improved this year after entering into a working agreement with the Boston Bruins of the National League.

Buffalo, host to the Rochester Americans, also figures to improve after a wholesale personnel turnover that includes player-coach Harry Watson.

Dick Hoehn, Dartmouth College tennis and squash player, lost only one tennis match as a 1956 freshman.

Hanover Jayvees Will Play Here Thursday At 3:30

Two Gettysburg scholastic football teams will be action Thursday afternoon.

The Gettysburg High School junior varsity will play its second game this week by meeting the Hanover Jayvees here at 3:30. The Warrior reserves have lost to Waynesboro and Biglerville but showed vast improvement in bowing to the latter team on Monday.

Meanwhile the Gettysburg Junior High outfit journeys to Shippensburg to take on Joe Lang's Greyhounds in a South Penn Junior High League game. Shippensburg has defeated Hanover and Chambersburg and leads the league. The Braves battled Washington Township to a 0-0 tie here last week in their lone game to date. In another league game, Hanover plays at Chambersburg.

Other scholastic games Thursday include: Biglerville Spiders at Boiling Springs, 7:30; Bermudian Jt. at Littlestown Jayvees, 7:30, and St. Vincent's, Hanover, at Delone seventh and eighth graders, 7:30.

Not Worried On Buhl

"Not a bit," he said. "I know he looked bad against them the first time around, but he's a good pitcher. The Yanks have much the same type of club as the Dodgers in our league and he certainly did all right against them."

"I think he might have been nervous in his first start. It should come as no surprise if he was. Eddie Mathews (third baseman) told me he had butterflies in his stomach and even Johnny Logan (a calm critter who plays shortstop) told me he had been a little flustered."

Haney said he didn't see any reason why the Yanks should make Buhl nervous twice in a row.

Hopes To Wrap It Up

"If he is getting the ball over the plate and he can get a couple of guys out, he should do all right," Haney confided.

Even with Red Schoendienst and Warren Spahn on the hospital list, Haney appeared unruffled.

"I hope it doesn't go seven games," he chirped. "If it doesn't, I'll worry about those two tomorrow."

A pro since April 12, 1951, DeJohn has posted a numerically impressive 33-3 record, including 24 knockouts. This, however, is his first excursion with a ranking opponent. Mike, 6-2 and 200 pounds, has an unbeaten streak of eight including a ten round draw with Neal Welch on March 26 in Miami. That was his last outing.

MINNESOTA'S BACK HONORED

Minnesota's Dick Larson, a second string quarterback who has been overshadowed by talented Bobby Cox for two years, today was named Back of the Week by the Associated Press for his spectacular feats in leading the unbeaten Gophers to victory over Purdue.

The 21-year old 5-11, 175-pound senior stepped into the breach when the inspired, underdog Boilermakers were giving Cox and the Gophers fits. Cox had been shackled on the ground and in the air.

Larson ran back a punt 72 yards for one touchdown, passed 16 yards to Bill Chorske for another, and ran five yards for the third and winning touchdown in the last quarter, for a 21-17 victory. He set up the final TD with a 52-yard pass play to Chorske.

He was "simply sensational," said Minnesota coach Murray Warmath.

HANEY FULL OF CONFIDENCE FOR 6TH BIG GAME

NEW YORK (AP)—Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney—as might be expected—was simply oozing confidence today as he readied his team for the sixth game of the World Series against the New York Yankees.

He also hoped it would be the last.

Did the fact that starting pitcher Bob Buhl got cuffed in his first start against the Yanks worry him?

"Not a bit," he said. "I know he looked bad against them the first time around, but he's a good pitcher. The Yanks have much the same type of club as the Dodgers in our league and he certainly did all right against them."

"I think he might have been nervous in his first start. It should come as no surprise if he was. Eddie Mathews (third baseman) told me he had butterflies in his stomach and even Johnny Logan (a calm critter who plays shortstop) told me he had been a little flustered."

ARMS PLANS TO BE REVEALED AT UNITED NATIONS

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States, Russia and India were slated to take the wraps off rival disarmament plans today. The U.N. Political Committee, meanwhile, cleared its decks to begin the arms debate tomorrow.

The Western resolution had been held up since last weekend for a working over to put more stress on control of outer space missiles.

Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington yesterday that the United States is ready to talk with Russia about international control of space missiles, but he said such negotiations should be held within the framework of the United Nations.

Dulles Hopeful
Dulles told newsmen the United States is hopeful Russia will accept a Western proposal to study means of making sure objects sent through outer space will be used only for peaceful purposes.

Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has said earlier that his government would be agreeable to international control of pilotless missiles as part of a general U.S.-Soviet agreement to coexist peacefully.

The 82-nation Political Committee decided to give disarmament top priority after appeals from both East and West.

An Indian spokesman said the success of India's arms plan "lies in the hands of the big powers." Immediate suspension of nuclear arms tests is the key point, as it is in the Russian plan.

The United States is not expected to go along with any such idea. The Western proposal, outlined in general in the London talks of the five-nation subcommittee, specified suspension only after agreement is reached to stop using atomic materials for weapons, reduce armed forces and evolve a comprehensive inspection system.

SOAP EXECUTIVE IN WILSON'S JOB

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neil H. McElroy, a soap company executive, takes over one of the toughest of secretaries of defense.

The 53-year-old Cincinnati man is swapping a $285,000-a-year job as president of Procter & Gamble Co. to take the $25,000-a-year Pentagon post.

He takes over the job vacated by Charles E. Wilson, who held it 4½ years.

Wilson spent a last busy day in his office, signing papers, writing farewell notes to associates, autographing pictures. He also maintained a full business schedule.

During the last two years, Wilson has quietly expanded his farm holdings, particularly cattle raising plantations in Louisiana, Florida and Michigan. Unless he decides to re-enter the business world which he left as president of General Motors in 1953, he is expected to devote much of his attention to his farms.

IKE IS BRIEFED ON LAUNCHING OF SATELLITE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was briefed by government scientists Tuesday on Russia's launching of a satellite and on U. S. plans to put a "baby moon" into outer space.

After the hour-long session, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said in reply to a question that so far as he knows the President received no information which would lead to a speed up in this country's satellite program.

Present plans call for launching of a U. S. satellite early next year.

Eisenhower was briefed by Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, and Donald Quarles, deputy secretary of defense.

Expert On Missiles
Waterman has over-all direction of Project Vanguard, this country's satellite launching program. Quarles is an expert in the missile field.

Hagerty steadfastly refused to provide any detail whatever regarding the specific nature of the briefing Eisenhower got.

The press secretary said he preferred to let the President discuss the matter himself at his news conference scheduled for today at 10:30 a.m.

In addition to Waterman and Quarles, two other government scientists sat in on the meeting with the President.

No Advance Announcement
Hagerty said he could not supply their names immediately.

The Eisenhower meeting with the scientists was not announced in advance.

Five White House aides also were on hand for the briefing.

Push Americanism Program By 40-8

HARRISBURG (AP)—Top officers of the Pennsylvania American Legion's Honor Society, the 40 and 8, will meet Saturday and Sunday at Emporium to draw up plans for advancing its Americanism and other programs.

Frank D. Berman, Emporium, grand chief de gare of the state group, said plans will be presented to step up the 40 and 8 programs in both community and national affairs.

Berman made the comment at installation ceremonies here Sunday of officers of the Harrisburg group of the 40 and 8. The state officers were elected at the state legion's convention here in August.

Poultrymen Open 3-Day Convention

HARRISBURG (AP) — Some 7,000 poultry growers and industry representatives have opened the annual three-day convention of the Northeastern Poultry Producers' Council.

The convention program featured discussion of problems facing the multi-billion dollar poultry industry in the 14 states represented by the council.

The show is being held at the 14-acre Pennsylvania Farm Show Building. Among the special events at the meeting will be selection of a Northeastern States poultry woman and boy of the year. Also to be selected is a hen of the year.

They were Sherman Adams, chief of White House liaison with Congress; Bryce Harlow, a presidential speech writer; Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House staff secretary and presidential aide on national security matters, and Hagerty.

When George Sisler batted .407 for the 1920 St. Louis Browns, he hit .448 during the last month of the season.

DECLARES REDS ABLE TO ATTACK EUROPEAN BASES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy credited Russia today with another first—possession of operational intermediate range ballistic missiles capable of placing nuclear warheads on virtually every fixed Allied base in Western Europe.

The disclosure, coming on the heels of Russia's pioneer launching of a space satellite, was made by Capt. H. L. Miller of the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

He said in a briefing prepared for the National Security Industrial Assn. that "the known Soviet possession of the IREB at present seriously prejudices our tenure of any base within 1,500 miles of Soviet launching sites."

Test Long Range Missiles
American officials have expressed frequently during the past several years the belief that the Russians were developing and testing long-range missiles, but this is the first public and unhedged statement that the Soviet

Urges Universal Military Training

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — U. S. Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) said today that America should enact a universal military training law so that everyone could "share equally the responsibility of our nation's defense."

The former governor of Pennsylvania, now completing his second six-year term in the Senate, told the annual convention of the National Guard Assn. that UMT "is real democracy" because everybody participates.

"If America is to be preserved as the greatest nation of all time, every citizen must accept a full share of individual responsibility," Martin said.

military forces now have such weapons.

The U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force all are in the process of developing 1,500-mile ballistic missiles, but they are still in the testing stage.

The Navy has long contended that the coming of the missile age makes aircraft carriers a vital part of the U.S. military machine. Fixed air bases could be destroyed much more easily by ballistic mis-

NEED LAND AND WATER SUPPLIES FOR EXPANSION

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Reservation of land for industrial use and the development of transportation facilities and water supplies are needed to assure southeastern Pennsylvania of its expected economic development, a planning report says.

The report published on Monday on behalf of the now-defunct Southeastern Pennsylvania Regional Development Commission, places industrial land needs at double the present 21,000 acres now being used for that purpose.

The report, issued by the University of Pennsylvania's Institute of Urban Studies, concerns Bucks, Chester, Montgomery and Delaware counties in their development through 1980.

It says 29,000 acres are available for development in those counties but that only 18,000 acres are served by suitable roads or railway facilities. In addition, the report says scattered residential developments threaten to cut deeply into the amount of industrial land.

These residential developments threaten also to cut sharply into an already limited water supply the report said. It suggested joint action by the four counties, the city of Philadelphia and the commonwealth to insure proper development of such supplies.

It asked also that highway planners consider the prospective industrial growth. It listed possible industrial sites already served by highways and railroads as: Bucks 6,400 acres; Montgomery 4,850; Chester 5,120 and Delaware 2,400. Growth on land that requires highway and railway development, the report said, will require these acreages: Bucks, 7,040; Chester, 770; Montgomery, 2,815 and Delaware, none.

Cincinnati's stellar keystone combination, shortstop Roy McMillan and second baseman Johnny Temple, was discovered in a Cincinnati tryout camp.

AWAIT UNION'S VOTE RECORDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack-ets probers awaited delivery today of subpoenaed Teamsters Union election records to determine the importance of some which they were told "definitely are missing."

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, said officials at the union's headquarters here confirmed some records are missing but indicated that "not very many" of the documents had been lost in a hotel incinerator.

A union lawyer first advised Kennedy Sunday night that subpoenaed records relating to James R. Hoffa's election as president of the Teamsters had been thrown down a Miami Beach hotel incinerator by a maid who suddenly died of a heart attack. He said then efforts were being made to recover the documents.

The committee is looking into charges that many convention delegates had been handpicked to rig the election in favor of Hoffa.

BLAZE CAUSES $500,000 LOSS TO GAS PLANT

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A series of explosions followed by a raging fire early Tuesday caused an estimated half million dollars damage to the National Cylinder Gas Co. plant near here.

Five workers escaped from the plant, none seriously injured. One fireman was hurt. No others were reported in the plant at the time.

Plymouth Township police said they saw exploding gas tanks rocketing hundreds of feet into the air like a fireworks display. The plant, on Conshohocken road between Conshohocken, Pa., and Norristown, is surrounded on all sides by the sprawling Alan Wood Steel Co. plant.

The rear end of the gas company plant was blown out and holes were ripped through the roof. Damage to the 100 by 200-foot one-story brick structure were estimated by Donald Tarbuton, fire marshal of the Conshohocken district.

Helps Prevent Spread

A control room operator in the plant was credited by firemen with possibly averting spread of the blaze to the steel plant, which is fed oxygen by National Cylinder Gas.

The operator, Robert Spear Jr., 31, Lansdale, Pa., said the concussion of the first explosion knocked him down and stunned him. When he came to, he crawled through flames to the basement. There he shut off controls that feed oxygen to the steel plant and other sections of National Cylinder Gas.

Frank Rogers 28, Havertown, said he knew Spear was inside the plant, but couldn't get in because of the flames. As he tried to enter, Spear made his way out.

Fire companies from several surrounding communities battled the blaze. Fire police kept motorists and others from the area, considered dangerous because of hundreds of other gas tanks still in the building.

About 20 tanks exploded altogether, police said.

The explosions started in the control room where Spear was working, but the cause was not immediately determined.

Other men working at the time were Carl C. Waters, Norristown, maintenance superintendent; John Chintalan, 41, Norristown; and Alfonso Cusumano, 33, Zieglerstown. Cusumano was treated for cuts and bruises. Jack Wright, 35, Conshohocken, a fire truck driver, collapsed and was taken to Montgomery Hospital, Norristown, for treatment.

Labor Party Wins Again In Norway

OSLO (AP)—Prime Minister Einar Gerhardsen and opposition leaders agreed Tuesday that Norway's voters had continued the Socialist Labor party in office with a resounding vote of confidence.

Results from 699 of Norway's 744 election districts indicated the middle-of-the-road Laborites, in the general election yesterday, won 78 of the 150 seats in the Norwegian Storting (Parliament).

Labor held 77 seats in the last Storting and has been in power for 22 years.

Other party showings (1953 results in parentheses):

Agrarians, 15 seats (14); Conservatives, 29 (27); Liberals, 15 (15); Christian People's party, 12 (14); and Communists, 1 (3).

PROBE LOSS OF UNION BALLOTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackeers investigators said Tuesday they hope to establish today how many Teamsters Union election documents have been salvaged from a hotel incinerator.

James R. Hoffa, elected president of the Teamsters at the union convention in Miami last Friday, said he understood all the papers have been found and forwarded here.

However, Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackeers Committee, said a union attorney had told him that he knew some of the documents were gone but didn't know how many were missing.

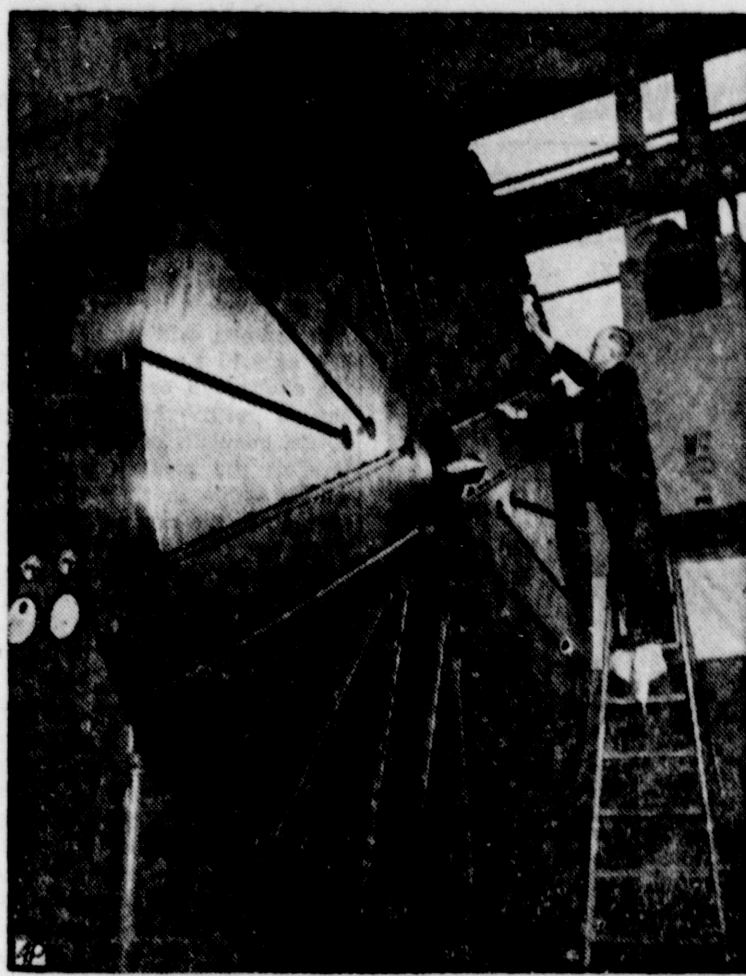

The documents were subpoenaed by the committee immediately after Hoffa's election, in a sequel to charges that the balloting had been rigged to assure his victory in the face of corruption charges against him.

The subpoena was served on Joe Konowe secretary of the convention Credentials Committee. It directed him to produce all documents relating to the seating of delegates and the election of officers.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark., chairman of the Senate committee, issued a statement late yesterday saying a Teamsters attorney had reported that a hotel maid had thrown the documents in a Miami Beach hotel incinerator.

hocken, a fire truck driver, collapsed and was taken to Montgomery Hospital, Norristown, for treatment.

Headquarters of the gas company is located at Chicago.

4 NATIONS TO CONFER SOON ON SPACE PIECES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sought quick consultation with Britain, France and Canada today on a new proposal to Russia for exploring international control of space missiles.

The Western powers had proposed such a study at the London disarmament conference in August, but only as part of a package under consideration at that time. Russia rejected the proposal.

Secretary of State Dulles abandoned the American stand-pat decision on this issue after a talk last night with President Eisenhower and disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen. He evidently wants to get the United States into a more favorable political and propaganda position before the world.

Use Only For Peace

The State Department recalled that during arms control negotiations in London last August the four Western powers proposed that a study be made of means to assure that missiles fired into outer space would be used only for peaceful purposes. The principal objective of such a study would be to devise international which all the powers could agree to.

"It is hoped that this offer will be accepted by the Soviet Union," the statement said.

If the other three Western nations agree, "such a study might be initiated without awaiting the conclusion of the other substantive features of the (disarmament) proposal," the statement said.

The effect of the change is that the United States is prepared to tackle the problem almost immediately if Russia seriously wants it and if the other allies agree—as officials here expect they will.

CONSIDER HUGE LOAN FOR STATE ROAD PROJECTS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Highways and Bridge Authority today began looking into the possibility of borrowing 40 million dollars to aid in financing a $175,500,000 federal-state highway program in Pennsylvania.

The authority staff was directed to investigate the borrowing possibility on Monday as the preliminary step toward partially financing the roadway program which will include work on 49 projects across the state.

Robert A. Farley, highways department chief engineer, told the authority board the projects would help "fill the gaps" in the state's highways needs.

A. J. Caruson, authority executive director, and Warren W. Holmes, its general counsel, said the borrowing could not be undertaken until the projects themselves had been approved by the authority.

Meet October 22

Another meeting was set for Oct. 22 to further discuss the proposed action.

Farley said the chosen 49 projects were screened from among 224 proposed projects.

Farley asked the board to approve the 49 projects for financing which the highways department already had listed in the planning stage.

Among the larger projects in the 49 are the Erie Throughway, the Delaware River Expressway, a free road linking the northeastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike with the proposed Penn-Can Highway through New York State.

The Roosevelt Boulevard and parts of the Schuylkill Expressway in Philadelphia also are included in the program.

Several of the projects already are in initial and advanced stages of construction.

Stevens Is Secretary

Lewis M. Stevens, new highways secretary, was named secretary of the authority and Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican President Pro Tempore of the Senate was chosen vice chairman. Both posts formerly were held by Joseph J. Lawler before he resigned as highways secretary to become a member of the Turnpike Commission.

George J. Richards, deputy highways secretary, told the authority that Pennsylvania still is short in funds which must be borrowed to qualify the state for 100 million dollars in federal funds available on a matching basis.

He said the federal government has apportioned $280,379,308 to Pennsylvania for use in the 1957-59 fiscal biennium and that the state—with the 40 millions proposed in loans, could authorize up to $107,291,587 in matching funds. Of the state's figure, the difference of $67,291,587 is supplied by the motor fund.

None of the 49 projects is in Adams County. One project is in Franklin County, from Mercer to Greencastle, 9.72 miles at a cost of $600,000.

Two projects are in Dauphin County, 3.04 miles from Route 422 to Route 22 at $400,000, and about 67 of a mile of the Harrisburg Expressway at $6,200,000.

Says Russians Will Agree To International Satellite Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev says the Soviet government will agree to international control of earth satellites and all pilotless missiles—as part of a general Soviet-U.S. agreement to coexist peacefully.

In an interview in Moscow on Monday with James Reston, Washington bureau chief of the New York Times who is visiting the Soviet capital, Khrushchev said an agreement on peaceful coexistence would remove any problem of controlling new scientific devices.

"The Soviet Communist party leader gave no indication, however, that the Moscow regime was prepared to modify the political or disarmament proposals previously rejected by the United States," Reston reported.

Sharply Critical

"On the contrary, he was sharply critical of United States policy in the Middle East and Germany," charged that Secretary of State Dulles was trying to drive Turkey into war with Syria, and asserted that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was following a Hitlerite policy in West Germany.

Khrushchev said Moscow was amending its disarmament proposals to provide for inspection of rocket-launching sites. He explained that planes are "in decline" as a weapon, that bombers lack height and speed for modern combat and are vulnerable to rocket attack, and that fighter planes move so fast they are not effective in air-to-air combat.

Before a "reasonable agreement" can be reached between the Soviet Union and the United States, Khrushchev said, the West must concede that Russia, China and other states exist as Socialist (Communist) states and must stop basing its policy "on the theory that some internal upheaval is going to destroy these states."

Khrushchev continued that the Soviet Union recognizes the existence of capitalist states with a different philosophy. It is "ready for peaceful competition with these states in all fields, he added, and if both sides approach each other as equals there is not a single question in the world that could not be solved."

Khrushchev charged that the United States is responsible for all troubles between it and the Soviet Union because it is trying to negotiate as if the United States is strong and Russia is weak.

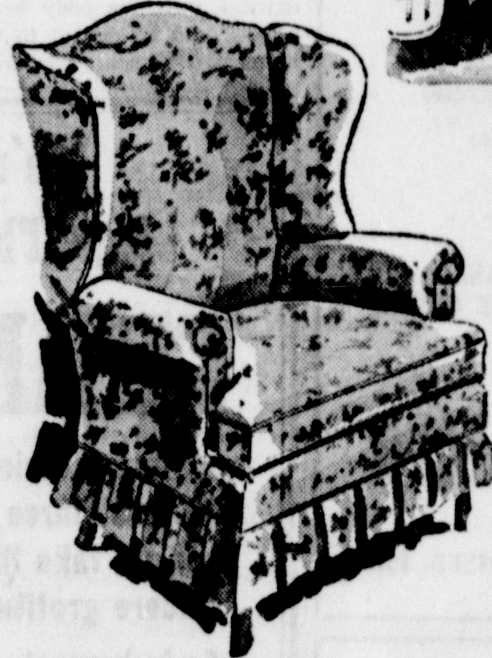

The Soviet leader said his country has every kind of rocket required in modern war—intercontinental, intermediate and short-range for front-line use. He said the Soviet arsenal was completely adequate for the country's defense.

"His recital of Soviet power," Reston wrote, "also made it clear that the Soviet Union was not prepared to discuss arms limitation from a position of weakness. He seemed to be saying: we are anxious to limit arms of all kinds but we want the world to know that we have them."

More Apples, But Not As Large This Year, In County Harvest

Adams County's fruit growers, midway in the annual harvest of the apple crop, look forward to a season that will produce lots more apples than last year, but, because of smaller size of many apples, may not up the bushel count as high as had been hoped.

Drought during the summer reduced the size of apples in many orchards, but the number of apples is much larger than 1956 when killing frosts in the spring combined to cut the size of the crop generally.

Windstorms this week helped knock a number of apples from trees in many orchards, but the fact was generally counterbalanced by the new hormone sprays which generally result in greater firmness between the stem of the fruit and the twig, thus generally keeping more fruit on the trees until fully matured.

Figures On '56

While fruit growers were engaged in this year's harvest some official figures became available concerning last year's apple production.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in its annual report on crops and livestock shows Adams County producing 1,150,000 bushels of apples last season, with the value of the crop listed as $2,128,000.

The state figures showed Adams also producing 245,000 bushels of peaches worth $506,000 and 4,234 tons of cherries worth $651,590.

Yorks On Top

The report showed York Imperials on a statewide basis becoming the No. 1 apple last year. The Imperials produced 1,193,000 bushels of apples last year outproducing the Stayman which normally holds first place in numbers produced. Last year on a state basis Stayman production was 849,000 bushels.

Adams County's tree population continues to decline, according to the state's figures. In 1944 Adams County had its peach apple tree population, with 602,305 listed. The 1954 census figures show 404,730 apple trees are listed for Adams, the smallest number in the twenty-year period for which figures are given. In 1934 the county had 513,304 trees, with a steady increase shown to 1944.

Peach tree population is also declining. In 1944 the county had a peak population of 355,047 peach trees. That compared to 238,643 in 1934. It also compares to 226,954 now.

FIND NO MARKET FOR BUFFALOES FOR ZOOS, MEAT

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—The great American bison went begging here today—apparently very few people want him, even for free.

Last month 225 buffaloes from the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge herd near here were placed on sale with zoos and parks getting first picks for nothing but transportation costs.

Individuals were also offered buffalo at a price on the hoof and chopped and in the car.

Moving Slowly

Since that time, only six buffaloes have been reserved for zoos. Eighty-nine have been sold to individuals or organizations, leaving 130 more to be disposed.

Julian Howard, refuge manager, who last year saw 200 of the buffaloes snapped up in no time at all, says he can't understand why his "merchandise" is moving so slow this year.

The buffaloes are being sold from the refuge herd to keep it down to 1,000—believed to be the largest in the world.

Don't Make Pets

Last year 50 buffaloes were sent to zoos and parks. Most of those sold to individuals went to ranchers, although Howard said meat orders have come from all sections of the United States.

A live buffalo under two years of age costs $125 at the refuge corral. There's an extra charge

HONEY CROP IN FALL IS CUT BY DRY WEATHER

By JOHN D. NAUGLE
Assistant Adams
County Farm Agent

In general there was a good crop of high-quality honey produced this summer, but in some areas it was limited by the hot, dry weather. The drought will reduce this fall crop. There was a small acreage of buckwheat planted this year and the weather was not suitable for a good honey flow. Goldenrod also suffered from the dry weather. The rain in September will probably bring about a flow from late goldenrod and aster.

As a result of the dry weather, some bees will be light on food this summer, but in some areas it was limited by the hot, dry weather. The drought will reduce this fall crop. There was a small acreage of buckwheat planted this year and the weather was not suitable for a good honey flow. Goldenrod also suffered from the dry weather. The rain in September will probably bring about a flow from late goldenrod and aster.

Feeding Bees

Even though there is an ample supply of honey stored on the bees, it is wise to feed 5 to 10 pounds of sugar made into a heavy syrup to insure good quality food during the coldest part of the winter. Use 2 to 2½ parts sugar to 1 part water and heat until the sugar is dissolved. Add 1 teaspoon of cream of tartar to 20 pounds of sugar to invert the sugar and reduce the possibility of crystallization. Feeding should be done one to two weeks after the first killing frost.

Bees winter best if they are protected from the prevailing winds; buildings, trees, or any temporary protection will be a help. This is especially valuable in the early spring for brood rearing. Packing is not needed in most sections of Pennsylvania.

Restrict the lower entrance to for dressing the animals.

"Buffaloes are not fit subjects for pets," says Howard, "but they make mighty tasty eating."

EXPANSION OF MAJOR LEAGUES TO BE NEXT STEP

NEW YORK (AP)—With the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants now officially headed for the West Coast, National League President Warren Giles today said expansion, to 10 or 12 team leagues, is the next logical step for further changes in the major league baseball map.

"I don't know of any club now considering relocation," said Giles. "If any cities not now included in the major league baseball makeup are to have major league baseball it would seem to have to come through expansion, not additional franchise transfers."

Giles, commenting on the Dodgers' decision yesterday to follow the Giants, Boston Braves, St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics in franchise shifts which have rearranged the baseball map since 1953, said expansion has been discussed frequently and for some time by the majors on an informal basis.

Formal Announcement

He added, however, that there "has been no sentiment favoring expansion at the present time in the National League."

"I don't believe there will be any such expansion, however, in the immediate future," said Giles, "say in the next two or three or four years."

The Dodgers, in anything but a surprise move, formally announced yesterday that club directors and stockholders had "unanimously agreed that the necessary steps be taken to draft the Los Angeles territory."

The announcement came within 24 hours of action by the Los Angeles City Council, by a 10-4 vote, approving an acceptable offer to the Dodgers—swapping a 300-acre chunk of accessible Chavez Ravine for Brooklyn-owned Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

PASS DEFENSE FEATURES ALL BULLET DRILLS

Gettysburg, which hasn't lost a football game since September 29, 1956, will go after its 10th straight victory Saturday when it meets Lehigh University at Bethlehem in a battle that shapes up as one of the top small-college games in the East.

Both teams take identical 2-0 1957 records into Saturday's affair. Lehigh having beaten Delaware and Western Reserve, and Gettysburg having stopped Bucknell and Western Maryland. Lehigh defeated Gettysburg 26-7 last year in the season-opener for both schools. That was one of the Bullets' 20 1956 losses before they jumped off on their current winning streak.

Gettysburg is devoting most of this week's practice sessions to pass defense because, in quarterback Dan Nolan, the Engineers possess one of the best passers in the East. Holder of Lehigh's all-time passing record before this season began, Nolan has continued his brilliant work against Delaware and Western Reserve and was the main factor in both Engineers victories.

On the other hand, Gettysburg boasts one of the East's top running backfields in the persons of all-state fullback Frank Capitani and halfbacks Don Halley and Earl Yost. Capitani, the "Hersey Hurricane," appears headed for another outstanding campaign in this, his final season. In Gettysburg's two triumphs this season Capitani has rushed for 232 yards in 37 carries for a 6.8 average. He picked up 77 yards in 22 tries against Bucknell, and last Friday night, playing less than 10 minutes, he ripped off 155 yards in 15 attempts against Western Maryland.

Gettysburg also will be out to uphold its brilliant defensive doing that have not allowed an opponent to score on the ground in the last nine games. Although six touchdowns have been scored against the Bullets during the current winning streak all have come on passes.

Gettysburg and Lehigh posted identical 7-2-0 records in 1956.

connection with every flag pole in Gettysburg—because flags will stick. And it has been used in connection with work, painting, etc., on just about every church steeple in town. It was at St. James Lutheran church for some time, the only piece of equipment that permitted painting there. More recently it was in use at the Episcopal Church here on its roof and tower.

"There is another chore that has become the firemen's because they have the equipment, and that is pumping out wells and basements. A more recent development has been the ambulance service. The Fire Department ambulance has already made more than 90 calls, and the firemen are also serving as crew for the Warner Hospital ambulance."

To Buy Nozzle Next

Demonstrated Tuesday night was use of the "deluge" nozzle which can hurl 1,000 gallons of water per minute in a stream 150 yards long. Tuesday night the nozzle, run at part speed, hurled water from the square onto York St. The stream could have thrown water over the top of the Wills building onto buildings beyond that Lincoln Square structure, firemen said.

Use of the nozzle to throw a spray of water and to produce a fog, plus use of various tips for the nozzle to vary the stream was shown. The "deluge" nozzle was described by Burgess Weaver as "the next piece of equipment this fire department will buy."

Use of special nozzles to throw water "around corners" and inside partitions was shown. Weaver explained the needs which call for use of the various types of equipment.

Stage Water Battle

A water battle was staged between two sets of firemen. The firemen used a rubber ball for a game in which the two teams of firemen were labeled the "Yankees" and "Milwaukee." "Milwaukee" won 8 to 6.

William DeHaas and Charles Kerrigan put on a demonstration of rescue of an injured person from the top of the Plaza building by use of the ladder truck and special stretchers.

In the speaking program opening the display and demonstration, speakers included Burgess Weaver, Fire Department President Harold W. Culp, Fire Chief Donald W. McSherry, and Assistant Chiefs Donald Staub and Frank Linn. Culp expressed his appreciation to the community for its support of the firemen. The fire chiefs outlined methods of making sure we don't have to use this equipment on your homes by making sure no fire can start there.

New Lung Demonstrated
The artificial lung presented to the community by the Moose lodge and the fire company rescuator were demonstrated. Pictures were on display of fire company activities and motion pictures of fire prevention were shown.

Thursday night the series of programs will close with an "Old Times Night" at which Judge W. C. Sheely will speak. Commentary over the loud speaker system Tuesday night was provided by Burgess Weaver and G. Henry Roth.

Township Provides For Land Fill Dumps

The supervisors of Oxford Twp. at a meeting Monday evening at the township election house near New Oxford repealed a 1954 ordinance prohibiting the dumping of rubbish in the township and adopted a new measure which provides among other things for the operation of land-fill sanitary disposal areas in the township.

The new ordinance prohibits dumping generally and provides for accumulating rubbish and garbage at specific sites in covered containers for a period of one week after which the rubbish is to be buried. Dumping sites must be approved by the township supervisors.

The ordinance provides conditions under which the supervisors will approve such sites upon application, hearing and licensing with all these procedures spelled out in the ordinance. The sanitary land fill method is the only one to be followed for disposing of waste dumped on the designated sites.

CLAIM SYRIAN FIRED ON TURK RAILROAD GROUP

ANKARA (AP)—Turkish authorities said Tuesday a Syrian border police chief fired into a group of unarmed Turkish railroad workers yesterday, starting a 50-minute battle between border patrols.

The government declined comment but authorities with first-hand reports gave this account:

Near the Syrian town of Jerablus and the Turkish town of Karkamis there is a free zone where Syrian crews take over from Turkish crews on the Istanbul-Baghdad railway. There has been no customs control of Turks in the zone.

Workers Resist Search

On Monday, however, Syrian police without warning tried to search 37 Turkish workers returning to their border. The workers resisted.

A Syrian police chief then fired a gun in the air, and when the Turks tried to seize his gun he fired into a group wounding one man in the leg.

A Turkish border guard post with 10 soldiers began firing in the direction of the border bridge. The Syrians returned the fire and 15 Turkish reinforcements arrived. The gun battle continued for another half hour but no further casualties were reported.

Want Chief Fired

Dist. Gov. Kemal Kalender protested to Syrian Dist. Gov. El Saud el Karyali and demanded dismissal of the police chief.

This was the first report of an actual clash on the border between the two countries whose relations have been strained recently.

SAY GIRL WAS KILLED WITH A SCREWDRIVER

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP)—Police today combed deep into Mexico for the kidnaper of a 5-year-old girl whose unclothed body was found Monday night in a dump eight miles east of here.

Little Sandra Jo Lucero apparently died from a single stab wound in the heart. The weapon, a screwdriver, lay nearby.

Police Chief Tommy Thompson and Sheriff J. C. Jones said they will file murder charges today against Joe Franco, 24, a farm worker with a record of minor scrapes with the law.

Franco, a "friend of the family," has already been charged with kidnapping the child from her home early Sunday. The FBI, whose agents were aiding local lawmen, issued a fugitive warrant for Franco.

Car Is Abandoned

His car was found abandoned 200 miles southwest of here in El Paso, Tex., near a bridge across the Rio Grande into Juarez, Mexico. Border patrolmen, FBI agents, Mexican police and New Mexico lawmen swarmed into Mexico in a joint effort to find Franco.

Left behind in the car was Franco's 30-30 rifle, fully loaded and with a shell in the chamber.

A post-mortem was ordered on the child's body to determine exact cause of death and whether she had been sexually assaulted.

Officers said it appeared to be a sex crime.

CRIMES IN FIVE OF 6 CATEGORIES SHOW INCREASE

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania's urban crime rate showed a slight increase in five of six major categories in the first six months of 1957 compared to a similar period last year, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

The figure, made available to the FBI by local police departments, showed, however, that the Keystone State crime rate is far below the national average so far this year in all six categories.

Around the nation, crime increased 7.2 per cent in cities and 13.2 per cent in rural areas for the six months ending June 30. The FBI said no breakdown on figures was available on rural areas.

May Set Record

But the police reports showed an overall rural-urban increase of 8.4 per cent to bring the national total of major crimes for the first half of the year to 1,399,670. Should this rate continue, last year's record crime total of 2,563,150 will be surpassed.

Since first compiled in 1951, mid-year crime estimates have increased 45.7 per cent, which is four times the 11 per cent increase in population in the same period.

It was only in the category of murder and nonnegligent manslaughter that Pennsylvania this year failed to exceed last year's crime rate. For the first six months of both years, the state reported 15 of such crimes for each 100,000 population.

The FBI noted that since population data used in figuring crime rates are from the last decennial census, in 1950, the effect on rates of changes in population should be borne in mind in making comparisons. Pennsylvania's population is estimated to have increased more than one-half million since 1950.

In other crime categories the Jan. 1-June 30 periods for the two years compared this way: Robbery — 29 per 100,000 population in 1957 against 28.8 in 1956; aggravated assault — 36.7 against 36.2; burglary, breaking or entering — 171.6 against 157.3; larceny-theft — 334.8 against 319.5; auto theft — 84.1 against 83.1.

In the national figures, the FBI divided criminal homicide into two categories — murder and non-negligent manslaughter—in which there were 2.4 instances per 100,000 population in the first six months of the year, and manslaughter by negligence, where the rate was 1.7.

Other crime rates nationally were: Robbery, 30.9 per 100,000 population; aggravated assault, 43.4; burglary-breaking or entering, 243.3; larceny-theft, 628.4; auto theft, 122.5.

CITY BUS FARES TO RISE ON EVE OF MASS STRIKE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pittsburgh Railways Co. will boost its fares an estimated $1,070,000 annually on Sunday—the day before a threatened mass transportation strike in that city.

The Public Utility Commission authorized the fare hike unanimously on Monday after it decided that evidence heard at two public hearings on the proposed raise "were sufficient to justify increased fares."

The city of Pittsburgh rested its case in opposition to the fare increase after a second hearing last Tuesday.

Up To City

The commission emphasized that its order lets it up to the city to decide if it will press its complaint further "even though the increase goes in."

Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh last night declined comment "until I go over the PUC ruling with my city solicitor." He was a leader of the opposition to the

Ingrid Bergman's Rival Is In Paris

PARIS (AP)—Air France confirmed Tuesday that Sonali Das Gupta, Roberto Rossellini's Indian girl friend, has arrived in Paris Ingrid Bergman said angrily she hasn't seen her.

The New York Daily News said on Monday that the Indian woman came to Paris to try to persuade Miss Bergman to give Rossellini up. Mrs. Das Gupta left her husband, an Indian movie director, to move into a hotel room in Bombay adjoining Rossellini's. The Italian is still in India making films for the Indian government.

Miss Bergman is appearing here in the play "Tea and Sympathy." She has denied any rift with her husband.

Officials of the railway company were not available for comment.

Under the increase, the company will raise tokens from 20 to 21½ cents and cash fares from 20 to 23 cents. A through bus fare of 23 cents goes to 26½ cents for a token, or 28 cents cash.

Regular transfers will be issued free as now is the custom.

SAY SLIPSHOD WORK DELAYED SCHOOL CHECKS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Auditor Gen. Charles C. Smith blames what he termed "slipshod" work by the Public Instruction Department for delays in payments of subsidies to fourth class Pennsylvania school districts.

Smith made the remark in answer to charges by Commonwealth Secretary James A. Finnegan, who said inefficiency in Smith's department was responsible for the delay in payments.

Smith said on Monday the information he needs to authorize the subsidy payments came to his office "in a slipshod fashion" and that the final authority from the Public Instruction Department was not received until Oct. 14.

He also noted that the payments could be made any time during the month of October and still be considered on time.

Finnegan said last week Oct. 1 had been the aim of the admini-

Referring to Smith's reply to his charges, Finnegan said:

"It serves once more to underline the fact that Mr. Smith is so engrossed in his own political ambitions that he simply doesn't have time to pay adequate attention to his own job."

Top Red Using Satellite To Put West On Defensive

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Tough-talking Nikita Khrushchev evidently has decided to use Russia's newly won position in missile and satellite development to pressure the Western powers into a defensive position in the cold war.

That is the implication seen by at least some officials here in Khrushchev's latest outburst—his speech to the East Germans. In that speech Khrushchev coupled a clear warning to Turkey not to try to push Syria around, with a demand that the United States accept peaceful coexistence with all the Communist countries including Red China.

Following up that line, the Soviet Communist party boss implied in an interview with James Reston of the New York Times that the coexistence would be pretty much on terms laid down by the Red bloc.

Khrushchev and his colleagues have complained for years that U.S. leaders were building policies on "positions of strength." The Reds seemed to be saying that with its Strategic Air Force, a chain of air bases and atomic weapons, the United States was trying to get its way by using superior power to browbeat the Communist countries into submission.

The Kremlin bosses talked about this enough to suggest more than the adoption of a propaganda line. They gave the impression they were fascinated by the real policy implications of a diplomacy based on naked power, as they saw it.

Have New Weapon

Against the record of this past behavior it appears that Khrushchev and perhaps others in the Moscow ruling group are now convinced that they have the power to undertake some heavy-handed maneuvering themselves in atomic age diplomacy.

One point under particular scrutiny here was Khrushchev's expressed willingness, set forth in the newspaper interview, to have international control over space flights, satellites and the like.

One initial reaction here was that this and everything else Khrushchev said should be carefully analyzed to see whether the Soviets are working themselves into a position for real negotiations behind a smokescreen of bluster.

Early Evaluation

However, some early evaluations put the international control statement down as a kind of diversionary move to cover the Soviet position defensively while Russian diplomacy strikes out hard on the offensive side.

Khrushchev may feel that Russia's claim last month of the successful firing of an intercontinental missile, plus the launching last week of an earth satellite—its evidence of Soviet power in rocketry—has put Moscow in the "position of strength" which Moscow had accused the West of using for so long.

Change Relations

If this is a correct analysis it suggests that the Soviet government will try to employ its real or assumed physical power to change the shape of diplomatic relations between the Communist and Western blocs and warring concessions from the West.

Khrushchev's statement that the United States must accept the existence of the Communist countries, including Red China, falls into line with that idea. So does his talk about international inspection or control of rockets and earth satellites, which carried no intimation that agreement could be achieved through concessions by the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev seems to stand firm on Russia's disarmament proposals which have heretofore been rejected by the Western powers. The United States had already called for bringing rockets into an arms control system as part of a general disarmament treaty.

Warns Turkey

At the same time that he raises these questions which directly involve Soviet relations with the United States, Khrushchev warns Turkey against pressuring its pro-Soviet neighbor, Syria, by maneuvering troops on the Syrian border. He menacingly mentions that Turkey's own border should be better defended, thus suggesting the idea of a Soviet attack without bluntness threatening it.

Perhaps the most serious danger in that kind of talk is that it increasingly engenders Soviet prestige in support of Syria and makes it more difficult to think of Russia holding aloof from a Middle East conflict should even local trouble break out there.

SLEEPLESS Nights Due to Upset NERVES

One lady recently stated that for over a year she didn't get a good night's rest. She would toss and roll about the bed, all night long, due to Upset Nerves. She got Sys-Tone and said the second night after she started taking it she slept 8 solid hours. Now she sleeps soundly, every night, and says she feels fine every morning. Sys-Tone is helpful, nervous men and women all over Gettysburg. Contains vitamins to quiet the nerves—without harmful drugs—and Carminative Herbs to relieve gas and aid digestion. Also contains iron and the best vitamins for energy. Costs only a few cents a day. So don't go on suffering. Get Sys-Tone—Peoples Drug Store. 3 YOUNGSTERS FIND LOOT OF 1955 ROBBERY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three boys at play have done something all children dream of—uncover a treasure.
But these boys won't be able to keep their treasure, stolen jewels valued at $10,000.

Kelly disclosed the incident yesterday. It occurred in the basement of an abandoned Chestnut Hill home last Friday.

The jewels were identified by Myer Marcus as part of the loot taken from his home in December, 1955. Marcus, an executive of Food Fair Stores Inc., placed his entire loss in the theft at slightly more than $12,000.

The boys weren't looking for treasure. They found the cache after being attracted by the sparkle of light on one of the gems.

Suspect Other Children

John Spelman, son of the city medical examiner, Dr. Joseph W. Spelman, was one of three boys in the cellar. They took the loot to Dr. Spelman's home and police were called.

Additional pieces of jewelry and a piggy bank containing 71 silver dollars were recovered. Gold earrings, a gold jeweled locket, eight gold rings with rubies and turquoises and several diamond

MORE SHOWERS ARE FORECAST

More showers were in prospect for sections of the Pacific Coast and the mid-continent but mostly pleasant autumn weather was indicated in other sections of the country today.

After three days of showery weather, clear skies were forecast for the sixth game of the World Series in New York City.

Showers continued during the night along the coastal sections from Washington southward into central California. Heaviest rainfall was along the northern California coast, with nearly an inch reported.

pieces were among the more than 70 pieces of jewelry.

Kelly said he was inclined to believe that some other children had taken the items from the Marcus home and, not realizing their value, abandoned them.
